

Sunrise Grapevine

President's Corner

Craig Worthington, President

Hi all,

It was a busy weekend for me, everything happening at the same time, but I was able to get by if only momentarily, our contest for the deaf and hard of hearing organized and presided over by George Boronow. His volunteer staff from the Club included his wife Lynn, Linda Hansen, and Mel and and Judy Shafel. There was an outside judge and an interpreter to finish the team. This is the first time I had observed the competition and I am so happy I did. Though I was only able to see the first two presentations, both were thought provoking and caused introspection of who I was being in the world. What these two were addressing, "If I were leader of the world the first thing I would do is?" were ideals that I call my own, but both gave a call to action. It was impressive and I was disappointed that I had to get to another meeting.

The Meeting was very formal in its agenda and atmosphere. This was about two scholarships, $2500 from the WINUM District, and $1000 from our Club; serious business. I can't say enough about how the esteem of the Club was heightened by the professionalism displayed by our fellow Optimists and the tone they set for the event. It amazes me every time I participate, if only as a guest, in one of the activities made possible by OUR CLUB. I hope each of us take time to take part in these activities that set us apart as a club.

Optimistically yours,

Craig Worthington

One-A-Week Club

The challenge from the Hallie Optimist Club is to see who can donate the most blood by October. What's at stake?

First and foremost is the recipients of our donations. You are giving the gift of life.

Now for the fun part. If the Hallie Optimist Club wins this challenge, the Sunrise Optimist club of Green Bay will be sending 2 pounds of Seroogy's Meltaways for them to eat as they gloat over their victory.

But if we win, the Hallie Optimist Club will be sending two pounds of Obsession's award winning Truffles! Then we can gloat.

So get going and schedule that appointment as soon as possible!

Current Sunrise Optimist Count = 19 2011 Year End Goal = 52
